

CUSTOMS AND TARIFFS

Dear valued DoorBird Partner,

As you may know, DoorBird products are proudly manufactured and shipped from our headquarters in Berlin, Germany. As such, we are subject to current U.S. tariffs on imports from the European Union.

A 25% tariff on EU steel and a 10% baseline tariff on electronics, small parts, and related components currently apply to our products. Although a temporary reduction from a previously proposed higher rate was announced on April 9, 2025, these tariffs continue to impact market conditions.

When purchasing directly from DoorBird, all pricing at checkout includes a DDP shipping fee that reflects applicable import duties and ensures a clear understanding of your total landing cost.

Additionally, you may find our products available through our network of authorized U.S. wholesale partners. While we do not set their pricing, working with a domestic supplier may offer logistical and cost-related advantages depending on your needs.

We remain committed to delivering value and reliability, and we will continue to monitor tariff developments and seek ways to reduce their impact.

Please reach out with any questions regarding this, your Regional Sales Manager and the DoorBird Inside Sales team will be happy to assist you.
